OVERVIEW
Grassroot Soccer (GRS) is an international adolescent health organization that educates, inspires and mobilizes young people to overcome their greatest health challenges and live healthier, more productive lives.

GRS uses the power of soccer to connect young people with the mentors, information, and health services they need to thrive, and empowers adolescents to make educated choices about pressing health challenges such as HIV & AIDS, sexual health, gender-based violence, and malaria. GRS’s evidence-based programs, led by trained local mentors, incorporate soccer into dynamic lessons about health and wellness that engage young people and break down cultural barriers.

With proven results and a constant focus on research and innovation, GRS has reached over 2 million young people in 50 countries with adolescent-friendly health education.
KEY FACTS

THE NEED

• In many parts of sub-Saharan Africa, adolescents face significant risks to their health and well-being. Too often, they lack information and support to access much-needed health services.

• Adolescents are among the most underserved populations around issues of disease, poverty and violence.

• While global AIDS-related deaths have been decreasing rapidly in the last decade, adolescents are the only age group for which this is not true.

• With an enormous youth bulge – almost 50% of the population under the age of 20 – we can and we must prepare young people on the African continent to be healthy, productive members of society.

• In southern Africa, young women are up to four times more likely than young men to be HIV+.
WHAT WE DO

EDUCATE

Adolescents Need Knowledge
Many young people lack a basic understanding of the facts around issues such as HIV, AIDS and sexual and reproductive health. For example, less than 30% of youth in developing countries have basic knowledge around HIV and AIDS.

Our Approach
The Grassroot Soccer SKILLZ curricula have been developed based on years of evaluation, research, and external evidence. Our curricula use soccer-based activities and lively discussions to engage learners, and they have been adapted to be culturally appropriate in different locations.

The Outcome
Grassroot Soccer graduates demonstrate significant improvements in knowledge of risky behaviors and awareness of local resources for support.
INSPIRE

Adolescents Need Inspiration
For those youths growing up in challenging circumstances where poverty, violence, and unemployment are ubiquitous, it can be difficult to envision a better future. Role models and mentors are important for inspiring hope and showing a young person what is possible.

Our Approach
Grassroot Soccer trains young community leaders, including local professional soccer players and youth leaders, to be health educators and Caring Coaches. Our Coaches connect personally with participants and become trusted mentors.

The Outcome
100% of Grassroot Soccer participants have access to a trained, supportive, accessible role model.
MOBILIZE

Adolescents Need Access to Health Services
Adolescence is a universal experience, but the quality and availability of adolescent-friendly health services is not.

Our Approach
Grassroot Soccer provides referrals to sexual and reproductive health services and social support. We organize voluntary counseling and testing soccer tournaments that provide opportunities to get tested for HIV and/or malaria in a safe, inclusive environment. We provide young people with the life skills they need to become agents of change, so they can break down harmful social norms that negatively impact their health.

The Outcome
Our graduates are much more likely to know their status, much more likely to talk to friends and family about health issues, much more likely to stay on treatment, and more likely to access biomedical prevention.
IMPACT

Knowledge
Grassroot Soccer has educated over 1.9 million youth with health knowledge.

Behavior Change
Grassroot Soccer participants are 5 times less likely than their peers to begin have sex between the ages of 12-15 and 8 times less likely to have had more than one sexual partner.

Reduction of Stigma
Grassroot Soccer graduates are much less likely than their peers to stigmatize a classmate with HIV, a major barrier to stopping the spread of AIDS, and much more likely to speak with their family and friends about HIV.

Uptake of Testing
GRS program participants are 50% more likely to access HIV counseling and testing than other adolescents in their communities.

Gender Equity
Fifty percent of program participants are girls, and Grassroot Soccer offers innovative programming to meet their specific needs. Grassroot Soccer’s participants have demonstrated a 63% improvement in their knowledge of sexual assault support services, along with improvements in attitudes towards the acceptability of violence in relationships.

Ethan is a graduate of Vassar College, and he has played and coached soccer professionally in Zimbabwe, the United States, and as a member of the U.S. National team for the 1997 and 2004 Pan-American Maccabiah Games in Chile.

Grassroot Soccer also has subject and programming experts – in the United States and internationally – available for interviews. Media-ready photos can be accessed here.
PRO AMBASSADORS

Robert Pirés

Pirés, a French footballer, had an amazing career both at the international and club levels. A standout for the French National Team, Pirés helped the team to victories in the 1998 FIFA World Cup and 2000 European Cup. During his time at Arsenal FC in the Barclays Premier League, he won three FA Cups and two League titles, including the club’s famous unbeaten season of 2003-2004. He has also played for Spanish side Villareal and Barclays Premier League club Aston Villa.

Christen Press

A World Champion and Olympian, Press is a member of the U.S. Women’s National Team, and was part of the squad that won the 2015 FIFA World Cup. On the U.S. team, she has consistently notched assists and goals in international play. Press played for the Chicago Red Stars in the National Women’s Soccer League for three seasons. She is currently on contract with Swedish team Koppabergs/Göteborg FC.

Quinton Fortune

Fortune’s impressive career has included massive success with Manchester United and participation in the 1998 and 2002 World Cup competitions. Growing up in South Africa during apartheid, he left for the UK in 1991 at the age of 14. Fortune uses his spotlight to promote gender equality and speak out against gender-based violence. He supported the anti-domestic violence group Tender during a 2010 FIFA World Cup campaign.

Freddie Ljungberg

Ljungberg, originally from Sweden, had an illustrious 17-year playing career that included captaining the Swedish National Team and a successful 9-year stint with Arsenal FC. He played a critical role in Arsenal’s success throughout the early 2000’s when the Gunners were considered ‘invincible.’ Other highlights include a spell with West Ham United, prior to moving over to the MLS and playing for both the Seattle Sounders and the Chicago Fire.
Bacary Sagna

Sagna plays right-back for Manchester City FC in the Barclays English Premier League and is also a member of the French National Team, playing in both the 2010 and 2014 World Cups. He previously played at Arsenal FC for seven seasons. He is considered one of the best right-backs in the world.

Rachel Riley

Rachel Riley is co-host of the popular TV quiz Countdown and its comedy spin-off, 8 Out of 10 Cats Does Countdown. She has also been a celebrity dancer on the popular series Strictly Come Dancing and has presented The Gadget Show, It’s Not Rocket Science, and Friday Night Football and Fantasy Football Club both on Sky Sports.

She is passionate about maths and science, and is an advocate for adolescent education across the globe. Rachel became an official Grassroot Soccer Global Ambassador in 2018 after attending the annual World AIDS Day Gala in London the previous December.

Oguchi Onyewu

Onyewu, an American defender, earned over 60 caps with the U.S. Men’s National Team and played for the U.S. at the 2006 and 2010 FIFA World Cups. He began his professional career in Europe in 2002 and received the 2006 U.S. Soccer Player of the Year award. During his professional career, he has played for clubs throughout Europe, including over 100 appearances for Standard Liege in the Belgian First Division. He currently plays for the Philadelphia Union in the MLS.
